EXPLANATION:

The request to the 74th General Convention was well received and has been implemented in a great number of dioceses, however there are still a number of dioceses which because of financial, resource and geographic issues have been unable to fully comply with the call to protect the least among us from abuse. The Center for Evangelism and Congregational Life is uniquely qualified to assist with the implementation of the call from the 74th General Convention. Although the 74th GC passed the resolution there is still a significant lag in implementation in some dioceses, not because of a lack of desire to implement but a lack of ability to bring together the necessary resources. This resolution provides funding to send trainers to dioceses that are unable to fund their own training programs. Safeguarding God's Children has become a standard program for child abuse prevention in The Episcopal Church but a number of dioceses in the Church lack the financial means to implement the program. With these funds the Center for Evangelism and Congregational Life can assist dioceses in developing and adopting policies for the protection of children and youth from abuse that address the following: 1. A screening and selection process for all clergy, lay employees, and volunteers who regularly work with children or youth 2. The articulation of behavioral standards for clergy, lay employees, and volunteers working with children or youth 3. The monitoring of programs and interaction with children and youth 4. Education and training 5. Guidelines for responding to concerns General Convention, Journal of the General Convention of The Episcopal Church, Minneapolis, MN 2003 (New York: General Convention, 2004), pp. 255-257.
